

An Idiot E-Mail

Idiot E-Mails: Unless the sender stipulates that they request that you return their email, this can be an etiquette NO NO! If someone sends you an email, and it contains some good information, please, do not send it back to the person, who just sent it to you, as if it was your own finding about this information!

It really does make you look like an idiot! It tells the person who receives your 'IDIOT' e-mail back, that you do not even regard his or her e-mails with any respect!

Sending it to others is perfectly O.K., just remember not to send it back to the one who sent it to you!
